For the

Direct Support of INDIA SCHOOL MISSION Project

Project #822-99201 line 13

Our partner church in India, the India Evangelical Lutheran Church (IELC), has a school system of 82 institutions, founded by our LCMS missionaries over 50 years ago. The buildings also date from that era, made of mud walls and tiled roofs. They have fallen into disrepair and have been eaten by termites. The schools are recognized and supported by the government, but the government has threatened to withdraw its support and recognition if the buildings are not renewed. Schools have been a major avenue of Christian witness in the community, as parents want to send their children to a Christian school, knowing of the spirituality and sincerity of the Christian teachers. Through the schools, the church has also educated its own members and equipped them with skills that allow them to contribute to financial support and congregational leadership in the church body.

To construct a new room on a school costs $5,000.00. Bricks for the construction cost $500.00 per pallet. There are 185 bricks on a pallet, so each brick costs $2.70
