Are you a social entrepreneur?

Erin is. She designs video games and is looking for ways to use gaming to teach Plumblin principles to the preChristian gamers.

Sue is. She works in the secular psychiatric community and is going to see mental health care transformed through ministry to the human spirit.

Loretta is. She works in community development and is teaching businesses to partner with the poor in a way that builds them up, instead of simply enabling them.

John is. He has created a spiritual climate in his restaurant so that people who have no use for God can experience Him there, without anyone preaching at them.

Benita is. She is a life coach who is introducing people to the love of God through revealing their design in the marketplace.

Brad is. He brought spiritual insight into God's timing to bear on the production schedule of the factory where he worked.

Holt is. She builds commercial buildings that express the nature of the land they sit on.

Allen is. He has a vision for bringing the spiritual principles of creativity to scientists working in original research.

These are only a few of the thousands of people God has called in the last 30 years to manifest His wisdom in the marketplace.

What is your vision for the culture around you?

Are you well on your way to implementing it, or do you need a hand getting started?

The |||STARTING |||RIGHT conferences in June are designed for social entrepreneurs who have been called by God to express His nature in the culture around us.

If you have been carrying this vision for a long time, but don't see how you can walk it out, this conference is for you! |||STARTING |||RIGHT is the hardest part of the journey. We can help.
