Taste for Yourself

By L. David Harris, assistant registrar

The Lord's food is even better than at CUC's cafeteria

O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in Him.
Psalms 34:8

I remember being on a beautiful island off the coast of Honduras. One of the tours took us to a beautiful garden. This was not just any garden. It was rich with the aromas of many flowering and medicinal plants. Some of them towered over us like large trees. Among them were many fruit-bearing trees. It was quite an enjoyable experience. Part of the garden tour included a naturalist guide who shared, in detail, the uses of these wonderful bounties.

After finishing the learning portion, the guide told us to sit in a circle. In the center, on top of a small table, she had prepared a fruit-tasting feast on banana leaves. As others tasted the fruit profuse with color and overflowing with natural juices, it was difficult to concentrate while waiting your turn. Everyone was so pleased. We could not help but share what we had already tasted for ourselves.

Living the Christian life is much the same way. God prepares a table before us and begins sharing His rich bounties. In fact, that is what He meant when He gave His message to the church of Laodicea. "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Revelation 3:20.

The Greek rendering of Jesus supping with those who respond to Him, suggests that He would bring dinner. The Lord is the one who prepares the table before His receptive children and sets before us bounties untold. As we partake, we cannot help but share our experience with others. We want everyone to know the joy and rich experience that we have with Him. We are not satisfied with merely enjoying God for ourselves only.

As you go through the day, take time to enjoy the Lord. When we do so, we will invariably invite others to do the same. We will say to them, "Taste and see, that the Lord is good."
