

When Tooth Bugs ATTACK!

By Krista McClure
Illustrations by Brent Molen

Tooth bugs attack from the inside.
Around my mouth they slip and slide.
They love to play when they taste treats.
Bugs crack and chip my pearly teeth.

(Look for a sneaky bug in each picture!)

I want a smile that's big and bright.
I will have strong teeth, if I clean them right.

I have a brush, some floss, and tools...
So now its time to learn the rules.

Eat healthy food, its not that tough,
but eating well is not enough.

Brush after meals and after snacks,
because that is when tooth bugs attack.

Morning and night that is the time,
to brush my teeth and make them shine.

I move the brush head round and round.
I brush the fronts, and up and down.

I clean them well, not in a rush.
From back to front my tongue I brush.

The stringy floss is so much fun.
Make a "c" shape, I'm almost done.

Scrape up and down, then out it pops.
Between each tooth before I stop.

Wires and brackets get in the way.
Poke floss up and through at the end of the day.

Now I'm done, but mouthwash is fun.
I rinse and swish and spit away.
I must clean those bugs off every day.
